- 25X1 1. On 14 March 1953, the entire Chinese Communist Military Liaison Group to the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (DRV), including the headquarters at Langson and the four branches at Yaitien (N 21-52, E 107-02), Shuik'oukuan (N 22-28, E 106-34), Lungpang (N 22-52, E 106-19), and Chennankuan (N 22-04, E 106-41), left Lungchou (N 22-22, E 106-56) for Nanning. In Nanning the Military Liaison Group was to be organized into a larger and more active liaison unit.
2. The Military Liaison Group had been established at Langson in September 1951 by the Central and South China Military Area Command. It was responsible for liaison work between Chinese and DRV training units and for coordinating communication and transportation activities in the Kwangsi-Indochina border area. In late February 1953, the members of the group had arrived in Lungchou from Langson and the four branch offices.
